Prologues

This study reveals information about the graduate output of the University by faculty degree program and by gender for the year 2022.

Graduate Output includes the undergraduate output of the University.

Statistics are as of December 31, 2022.

1. Graduate Output of the University

In this report, we present a fundamental overview of the graduate output of 2022, providing a basic idea of the university's graduating class for the year under review.

Table 1: Graduate Output of the University

FACULTY	GRADUATE OUTPUT
Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies	665
Faculty of Computing Technology	217
Faculty of Humanities	604
Faculty of Medicine	211
Faculty of Science	486
Faculty of Social Sciences	857
Total	3040

A total of 665 graduates have passed from the Faculty of Commerce and Management Studies which is 21.9% of the total output of the University. The faculty of Social Sciences has the highest percentage with 857 graduates, which is 28.1% of the total output. The Faculty of Medicine represents the lowest percentage with 211 graduates, which is 6.9% of the total output. The Faculty of Humanities released 604 graduates this year, 19.8% of the total. Also, 486 students have passed from the Faculty of Science, which is 15.9% of the total graduation output.

1.1 Graduate Output by Gender

Table 2: Graduate Output by Gender in the Faculties

Faculty	Graduate Output		Percentage
	Male	Female	Male	Female
Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies	228	437	24.8%	20.6%

Faculty of Social Sciences	117	740	12.7%	34.9%
Total	921	2119	30.3%	69.7%

In 2022, the University of Kelaniya witnessed a notable gender distribution among its graduates, with female students comprising a significant majority at 69.7%, while male students accounted for 30.3% of the total graduating class.

2. Graduate output of the Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies

665 out of 716 students have passed who sat for the final examination. Thus, the total passing percentage in the Faculty of Commerce and Management Studies is 92.8%.

Table 3: Graduate Output of Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies

Table 19 & Figure 13 show how the graduate's results are divided according to gender. According to statistics, female students have obtained the highest percentage of the class. Male students have obtained first class 1.7%. About 7% of female students have obtained first class.

8. Conclusion

This study provides a comprehensive overview of the University's graduate output for the year 2022, encompassing undergraduate achievements. By examining this data through the faculty, degree programs, and gender, we gain an understanding of our graduate demographics. It highlights our unwavering commitment to academic excellence, as graduates complete diverse degree programs across various faculties. This data serves as a vital resource for future planning, ensuring the University's continued success in producing accomplished graduates.

In the context of the 2022 graduation statistics, it is observed that the graduation rate for women stands at 69.70%, while the overall graduation rate, encompassing all students, is reported at 76.72%.

8.1 Graduate Output by Faculties

Statistically, Table 20 shows the graduation output of the faculties considering the Total Number Sat for The Final Exam, the Total Number Passed and the percentage Passed Out.

Table 20: Total percentage of students who passed out.

Faculty	Total Number Sat for The Final Exam	Total Number Passed	Percentage Passed Out
Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies	716	665	93%
Faculty of Computing Technology	376	217	58%
Faculty of Humanities	722	604	84%
Faculty of Medicine	268	211	79%
Faculty of Science	912	486	53%
Faculty of Social Sciences	968	857	89%
Total	3962	3040	77%

Out of the total 3,962 students who sat for the exams, an impressive 3,040 students successfully passed, resulting in an overall pass rate of approximately 77%. It's noteworthy that the Faculty of Commerce and Management achieved the highest pass percentage, which was 93%, while the Faculty of Science reported the lowest pass percentage at 53%. These statistics provide a comprehensive overview of the academic achievements across different faculties

8.2 Graduate Output by the Result

Table 21: Result Obtained by the most of graduates of the University.

Faculty	The Result obtained	Percentage
Faculty of Commerce & Management Studies	Second class -Upper Division	46.3%
Faculty of Computing Technology	Ordinary Pass	47.5%
Faculty of Humanities	Second class -Upper Division	63.1%
Faculty of Medicine	Ordinary Pass	52.1%
Faculty of Science	Ordinary Pass	37.7%
Faculty of Social Sciences	Second class -Upper Division	83.3%

The table presented above displays the highest pass percentages in various faculties of a university. It is noteworthy that most faculties have the second class - upper division as the highest result obtained. Specifically, the Faculty of Social Science, Faculty of Humanities, and Faculty of Commerce and Management have reported pass percentages of 83.3%, 63.1%, and 46.3%, respectively, in this category. In contrast, the remaining faculties have reported the ordinary pass as the highest degree obtained. These statistics provide an overview of the academic achievements within the university's different faculties.

The 2022 academic year at the University of Kelaniya witnessed a substantial female majority in graduate output, with female graduates constituting 69.7% of the total. These findings reflect the evolving gender dynamics in higher education, highlighting the increasing presence and participation of female students in various academic disciplines. The university's commitment to fostering inclusivity and equal educational opportunities is evident in this data, as it continues to produce successful graduates, irrespective of gender, thereby contributing to a diverse and empowered workforce.
